

Harry Noyes: President, Encampment Minerals – Harry is a management professional with repeated success in generating value in mineral properties. He has successfully developed and managed business and technical teams and implemented cutting edge technology. He also has extensive domestic and international experience working with native/indigenous peoples. Harry was instrumental in setting up and managing the first ever natural resources based business unit with a major Native Corporation in Alaska.