

Bob Bassett: Holland and Hart – With nearly 30 years of experience in mining law, he provides clients with the practical solutions and the solid advice they need for financing and developing their projects. He has represented clients in a myriad of complex transactions involving major coal, copper, gold, industrial minerals and uranium mines and companies in the U.S., Latin America and Africa; acted as mining counsel for numerous financings of mining companies; has acted as mining counsel in complex mining company mergers and acquisitions; and represented clients before government agencies for development of mining projects, mine methane capture programs and property rights acquisitions.