

Patrick Highsmith: Geologist, boots-on-the-ground – Technical mining professional with 25 years of experience spanning exploration and mining geology, exploration geochemistry, business development, mining finance, and management. He has worked on more than 250 projects in 26 countries. Patrick is passionate about building excellent teams and unlocking the value in natural resources. He is currently heavily involved in research and publishing on the subjects of leadership and future markets in the mining industry.